may be considered.

13. There should be but one route bid for in a proposal. Consolidated or combination bids ("proposing one sum for two or more routes") cannot be considered.

14. The route, the service, the yearly pay, the name and residence of the bidd r (that is, his usual post-office address), and the name of each member of a firm, where a compan offers, should be distinctly stated.

15. Biddiers are requested to use as far as practicable, the printed proposals furnished by the Department, to write out in full the sam of their bids, and to retain copies of them.

Department, to write out in full the sum of their bids, and to retain copies of them.

Altered bids should not be submitted: nor should bids once submitted be withdrawn. No withdrawal of a bidder or guarantor will be allowed unless the withdrawal is received twenty-four hours previous to the time fixed for opening the proposals.

Each bid must be guaranteed by two responsible persons. The bid and guarantee should be signed plainly with the full name of each person.

The Postmaster teneral reserves the right to reject any bid which may be deemed extrava-cant: and also to disregard the bids of failing con-tractors and bidders. (Act of June 8, 1872, sec-

17. The contracts are to be executed and returned to the Department by or before the latday of June, 1874, otherwise the accepted hidder will be considered as having failed, and the Postmaster tieneral may proceed to contract for the service with other parties, according to law.

Transfers of contracts, or of interest in contracts, are forbidden by law and consequentby cannot be allowed. Neither can bids or interest in bids, be transferred or assigned to other parties. Bidders will therefore take notice that they will be expected to perform the service

they will be expected to perform the service awarded to them through the whole contract term.

18 Section 249 of the act of June 8, 1872, provides that contracts for the transportation of the mail shall be "awarded to the lowest binder tendering sufficient guarantees for faithful performance, without other reference to the mode of such transportation than may be necessary to provide for the due celerity, certainty, and security thereof." Under this law bids that propose to transport the mails with "celerity, certainty, and security," having been decided to be the only legal bids, are construed as providing for the entire mail, however large, and whatever may be the mode of conveyance necessary to insare its "celerity, certainty, and security," and have the preference over all others, and no others are considered, except for steamboat routes.

19. A modification of a bid in any of its essential terms is tantamount to a new bid, and cannot be received, so as to interfere with regular competition. Making a new bid, with guarantee and certificate, is the only way to medify a previous bid.

20. Postmasters are to be careful not to certify to the sufficiency of guarantors without knowing that they are p. rsons of sufficient responsibility, (See section 247, act of June 8, 1872.) They must not sign the certificate until the sum of the bid is insected, and the bid and guarantees re signed by the bidder and (two) guarantors; a disregard of this instruction by Postmasters will subject them to immediate removal and to severe penalties.

Postmasters are also liable to dismissal from the contractors of the contrac
